INDRAPRASTHA INSTITUTE of
INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY DELHI

Indraprastha Institute of Information Technology – Delhi, shortly known as IIIT Delhi, was founded in 2008. IIITD is a State University started by the Delhi Government and focuses mainly on research and development in Information Technology. It offers BTech, MTech and PhD programs. IIITD's mission is to be a global centre of excellence in Information Technology education, training and research.

Background

IIITD intended to implement an Academic ERP System across the institute in a phased manner. IIITD was looking for a solution that was reliable, and economical, while having the modularity for a phased implementation and the scalability to meet increasing requirements in the years ahead. The objective was to create a highly efficient 'paperless office' by fully automating the administrative & student processes.

Challenge

The academic policies, fees collection procedures, library rules, etc. were still evolving based on the needs of its students. Understanding the changing requirements, standardizing the processes and customizing the solution for such a need, were the key challenges that needed to be addressed.

Solution

The solution included - implementing a scalable and robust web-based Campus ERP System with modules such as Admission Management, Academics Administration, Document Management, Fees Management and Library Management.
